Security Corner: Data Leakage and the autofill feature

Most browsers today include an autofill feature, which many people have enabled. This feature allows your computer's browser to store personal information in a cache, such as your name, address, and phone number. Then, when you visit a website and start to fill out a form online, the browser requests if you would like the form auto-filled. With your approval, the browser automatically fills out the form for you. Thus, the browser has saved you time and effort by automatically filling out repetitive information you would otherwise have to enter manually. The auto-fill feature sounds great, but there is a down side. Some websites have caught on to the auto-fill feature and are taking advantage of people. For example, when the user approves auto-fill, the user assumes they are only giving out a narrow subset of their personal information. But some sites contain hidden fields the user cannot see. When the auto-fill feature is enabled/approved, these hidden fields get filled in but they are out of view, and the user gets tricked into including extra information like their credit-card data.

TIP: We suggest you disable the auto-fill feature, and enter your personal information by hand even though it takes a few seconds longer. At the very least, you should review your auto-fill settings and the kind of information your browser maintains for you. You can easily do this by searching online with the words "disable auto-fill browser." One of the first items in the search results, from support-lclasspro.com, has instructions for all browser types.

Transport Layer Security Readiness

Our processor will be discontinuing the support for Transport Layer Security (TLS) v1.0 and v1.1 for all Mobiliti™ (Mobile Banking) users beginning June 25, 2017. As of that date, the minimum standard for establishing a connection with the Mobiliti platform will be TLS v1.2.

Reason for Discontinuation

TLS v1.0 and v1.1 are being discontinued due to security implications. The security standard that Fiserv employs has mandated the use of Transport Layer Security (TLS) v1.2 protocol for secure app communications versus previous versions. TLS is the layer that ensures that connection from the app to the platform is secure, encrypted and safe from malicious attacks. This is in the best interest of the users as TLS v1.2 is a more secure protocol compared to its predecessors.

Effect on Mobiliti Users

- Users who are on older Operating Systems (OS) versions that do not support TLS v1.2, will need to upgrade their mobile OS version to be able to connect to Mobiliti through a TLS v1.2 connection.
- Users who do not have a compatible OS version will get a connection error when attempting to access the Mobiliti platform.
- If issues are encountered, Mobiliti users should be advised to upgrade their OS version to compatible versions as noted below:
 - o Users with devices on Android KitKat (4.4 and above) and above will be able to connect to Mobiliti.
 - o Users with devices on iOS 8 and above will be able to connect to Mobiliti.
